

Exercise: Context Diagrams

An order entry department has the task of filling customer orders. It receives the customer orders, produces picking labels and packing slips for the warehouse, and invoice data for the accounts department. In addition, the department provides summary reports for management, and places purchase orders for stock on suppliers when stock falls below pre-determined levels.

Using the information above, draw a context diagram for the department.

